Architects, You Don

I will spill blood On your filthy princess whites Come home tonight So I can slit your throat Every time you discard my heart Your ships sinking fast The colours are fading Save me again tonight, you know III make it count Princess, theres more to life than robbing banks You wont walk away from this broken heart Slash my arms Tear off my limbs I will never back down To your sin