

Architecture In Helsinki, Underwater

Look both ways when you leave the building the wrath of millions of thieves lies disguised while the children of makeshift hills let the code of silence repeat 16 times when we get delayed can we cast a line towards anyone dismayed can we go it alone say say say caught me listening to water dripping from those old lips to a town where its dry when you leave don't say that anyone here will be thinking in modern ways
can we go it alone say say say
Look both ways when you leave the building
the wrath of millions of thieves lies disguised

Here underwater we're down. Here underwater way down.
