

Ari Hest, Fade

And by the way, the comedy, has come and taken me on
Taken my legs and wrapped them around me so my head can't come down
Just when I thought I had enough, the storm gets even more rough
A la la laa... And I'm just living day by day

Am I this man who understands what my passions decree
Or better yet, am I the one who should be living this dream
All I know is that I'm stuck, but I'm bound to find some luck
Another day still awaits so I won't, I won't fade away

A hidden love, confidence, or a friend in the night
And I sleep light, not so tight, I'm afraid the bed bugs may bite me
Up and down my skin, and deep within, these foes have a grin
And they keep smiling all along while I creep on through this day
