

Arid, Dearly Departed

Fingers numb, feel sick again
I call on you, you my friend
You've stung my heart
With your goodbyes
The lemon sweet of your lies
Let the dirt cover me
Kiss the sky, as you fly on high
Over all that's left to be
I'll see you when I fall
I'm so tired, put me to sleep
I dig a hole, I dig down deep
I see faces in the black
Grabbing hands pulling me back
I am lost within myself
No I can't be someone else
So many things still left to say
I'll see you when I fall
Face the phantoms in my sleep
They say time heals, will it for me?
With every cut, you're in too deep
As sorrow plants another seed
I let the dirt cover me
Kiss the sky, as you fly on high
Over all that's left to be
I'll see you when I fall
I'm so tired, put me to sleep
I dig a hole, I dig down deep
I see faces in the black
Grabbing hands pulling me back
I am lost within myself
No I can't be someone else
And it makes me wonder why
All good things they come to die
Behold the sadness in my eyes
But I'll forget and live my life
Though you'll burn inside of me
I'll see you when I fall.
