Armageddon, Embrace The Mystery

If the light is gone If your moon has fallen And you're digging in your inner city

Just wait and see Your sun will rise When the morning breaks you'll see

So my son Embrace the mystery In time the truth is to be seen

When your hope has flown When the bridge has broken And you're tumbling down the stairway

Just wait and see Your sun will arise When the morning breaks you'll see

So my son Embrace the mystery In time the truth is to be seen