

Armin Van Buuren, Broken Tonight

You see the world through your window
You dont even go outside anymore
Only feel safe feeling hollow
You think your scars are way too deep to be cured
You hide your heart in the shadows
So afraid to open up to anyone
But I can see your faded halo
And I can make it burn again, like the sun
If you stay for a while
Let me hold you tonight
Just open your eyes you will see the light
But stay for a while
Let me hold you tonight
Just open your eyes you will see the light shine
You dont have to be frozen
You dont have to be broken tonight
I can see your faded halo
And I can make it burn again, like the sun
Just stay for a while
Let me hold you tonight
Just open your eyes you will see the light shine
You dont have to be frozen
You dont have to be broken
You dont have to be broken tonight