Armored Saint, Envy

I see you hand in hand with my worst enemy I can't show the anger that I feel or the jealousy

About all I can do is watch And wish that he hadn't caught What I had my hands almost on But now I'm so far gone

Envy I feel, envy I feel, envy I feel

I could end things really quick With a bullet right to his head But she was the one who left me So I should get you both instead

But would I really be glad To know I gave her the sack And be in prison for life Over foolish spite Envy I feel, envy I feel, envy I feel no Envy I feel, envy I feel, envy I feel

It's a waste-envy I feel To live with such haste-envy I feel For just a pretty face-envy I feel no more
