

Armsbendback, Dystopia

I never knew how far I'd go for you
Mixed thoughts and fears my curiosity builds
From time to time I sit and think about you
Blood on my mind I never felt so weird
You said that I could never change well I know now
There's reasons why I have to stay well I know now
The time is right to set the mood tonight
I feel there is nothing left for me to say
There's just the sound of my soul calling to you
We'll dim the lights we'll hide away tonight
You said that I could never change well I know now
There's reasons why I have to stay well I know now
Yeah well I know this will all end today
Yeah I know that this is all gonna end today
So why should I be searching for something beautiful it's just temporary