Artrosis, Under Constraint

I clench my fists instinctively Chilly wind of orders Quells in me zeal I am like a man-machine Ensnared by will-power This is right and this is wrong Empty grimace on my face

Under constraint
My wandering thought
Stirs up shiver of anxiety
What I have lost - I know!
Louder and louder I hear
Ice cracking that I am standing on

That is me - the missed fire I treat to blurred smile Newer and newer words I am like a man-machine Ensnared by will-power This is right and this is wrong

Under constraint My wandering thought