

Aruna, The Other Side

Thought I knew you
Then you disappear without a trace
Color fades from view
And all your shadows stare me in the face

Its a sharp turn
That takes me far from where I wanna be
And theres no return
From shades of you my heart cant bear to see

Something I can't erase
Something I can't undo
Something I can't replace
Something I always knew
There's a riot I can't tame
And a sea I can't pass through
Cuz no one can save what's broken
On the other side of you

Im unsteady here
Pulling strings to bring you back around
Living my worst fear
Everything I love turned upside down
Its a hard fall
That shatters every calm I've come to know
Its a wake-up call
To face that frigid skin you can't outgrow

Something I can't erase
Something I can't undo
Something I can't replace
Something I always knew
Theres a riot I cant tame
And a sea I can't pass through
Cuz no one can save whats broken
On the other side of you

But I won't let go and I can't come down cuz I'm too involved
You're a mystery I'm still too scared to solve

Something I can't erase
Something I can't undo
Something I can't replace
Something I always knew
There's a riot I can't tame
And a sea I can't pass through
Cuz no one can save what's broken
On the other side of you