

Arwen, Eternally

I hear your voice again through the wind in dreams inside me
The brightness of your eyes stays in my mind
all the time
Fly away my memories
I don't know where
and my tears still falling down
a silver lake
where my sadness grows Everynight of this cold winter I feel you near so close I see you here
touching me
Oh, my love draw your sadness because my love will be with you forever...
Fly away...
May the sun shine eternally and may the sea dry
death covers me with its dark cape (but never will the flame of your love die on me)
Fly away my memories
I don't know where
and my tears still falling down
a silver lake
where my sadness grows...
May the sun shine eternally
and may the sea dry...