

Aryeon, Dawn Of A Million Souls

The Big Bang has created one soul, the Universal Migrator. The Universal Migrator divides itself, and each Migrator flies off independently in search of a habitable planet in order to breathe life into it. I follow the migrator that will eventually reach our planet Earth."

[Russel Allen, Damian Wilson]

At the birth of time, the beginning of beginnings

One cosmic soul was created

A bringer of life, a universal migrator

Born to sow its seeds in all the galaxies

Like a cell dividing, it spreads in all directions

Creating life among the stars

Im struck with awe as I join the great migrator

Now it takes flight to the brightest star of all

On a quest for life, through the sable skies

What a show! behold!

The dawn of a million souls

On a bold crusade, in the realm of shade

What a show! behold!

The dawn of a million souls

Through the glowing mist, like a fog of radiation

I can see the forming of new planets

Ive been struck by thunder as I witness all the splendor

And I realize how small we really are

Ooh, I can see forever

On the wings of dreams I fly

Is this real or is it just a fantasy?

What awaits me now at the end of this ride?