

As Divine Grace, Perpetual

Many have faded in silent garden, faded and perished Scarlet leaves increase on meadow, where I was once with you

"I have shed tears for love like winds I dance the leaves away those scarlet leaves"

And This immense cradle of leaves
I shall ignite on flames
And I gaze how sheet of flames billows submit serenity

I kiss your, glacial tear and your cheek feels so real You tread away from me and you fade, fade forever
