

Ashe, Cry For You

you know i can't believe you all the things you say, they're not true but i fear i can't just leave you all i feel is that i need you, my love this is all my spirit can take any more and i will surely meet decay won't you reach out, touch my heart-ache feel it beating, please don't throw it away i can't believe your careless lies your burning eyes pass through me i never thought our love would die but how could i, i could not see baby girl you know i need you can't believe that you would leave me this way if my pain will not appease you so it please you, i've got nothing to say i now begin to realize you're not the girl i once knew but deep beneath those hollow eyes resides that dying part of you of you
i will cry
cry for you
for you
i will cry
cry for you
curtains drawn, you shut the moon out as though it were bright as sun in the day i would crawl through the dementia in your head, if you would show me a way i can't believe your careless lies
your burning eyes pass through me
i never thought our love would die
but how could i, i could not see see for you but i will cry
cry for you
for you
i will cry
cry for you