

Asheru, The Boondocks Theme Song

I am the stone that the builder refused, I am the visual
The inspiration that make the ladies sing the blues
I'm the spark that makes your idea bright
The same spark that lights the dark
So that you can know your left from your right
I am the ballot in your box, the bullet in the gun
The inner glow that lets you know to call your brother son
The story that's just begun, the promise of what's to come
And I'm a remain a soldier 'till the war is won
Chop chop chop, judo flip
Chop chop chop, judo flip
Chop chop chop, judo flip
Chop chop chop