

Ashton Allen, Steven's Song

I miss you, though I never met you
And we were worlds apart
Whispered words I read
Scribbled from your head
And screaming from your heart
I never will forget that day
I was living out far away
Couldn't imagine what you would write
So then I waited all year long
Just to hear a brand new song

Swallowed up inside
Where you could not hide
Til you took your final bow
And everyone will love you
But its much too late for you
You see the
I never will forget that face
Emotions from a different place
Victim of the opposite crime
I heard that you were getting along
Thought that everyone was wrong
I said its only just a matter of time
Its only just a matter of time
I never will forget that day
I was living out far away
Couldn't imagine what you would write
So then I waited all year long
Just to hear a brand new song
