Circling further off on the loop road today once again

Every night, Loneliness sets forth

Night diver

A phantom that wanders the streets through the night

I go

White lines Broken

Pretend I can't see the future

My heart drowned in the grief that fell

And piled up in the winter era

My right hand, Tracing the ends of the heart line, wallowing in my feelings

Flickering emotions

Rise up again as they come back down

I go

Red lights, Beautiful

Lights that reflect on the water surface mesmerizes me

The Ferris wheel like fireworks

Coloring the imposters, Circling the skies

You can run until the far off skies turn white
It won't disappear, It won't disappear you know
You can step on it until the scenery melts in the wind
It won't disappear, It won't disappear you know

Dodging the reef
An excursion, following the trails
I go
Emotions dash to and fro
Rise up as they come back down
I go

Red lights, Beautiful
Lights that reflect on the water surface mesmerizes me

Breathe in deeply to the faintest of hopes
My heart drowned in the deep sea
