

Asphyx, Last One On Earth

(Van Drunen / Van Drunen, Daniels)

Behold my final testimony I'm the survivor of my race hear the tale of sadness and genocide where the species disappeared and the trees could no longer breathe a drama of collective suicide as we let our children suffer in a paradise long gone utopia has never within reach but we still kept believing in the madness and the lies read my words that's all that I beseech

As we died because of our ignorance as we died because of greed because of our stupidity now I'm the last one to scream

The mountains now are rising and the oceans start to boil the final convulsion of the earth the heat is melting every stone volcanes start to roar cosmic chaos no hope for rebirth I'm the living witness of the torment and the pain I was doomed to see the planet die together with the tragedy I'm craving for relief eternally the universe will cry
