

Assorted Jellybeans, Plain Life

staring in a daze, but i'm not looking at you i'm thinking of all the things that i'd rather do but not really thinking about what i want to be cause 20 years from now is another lifetime to me do you think i care when you're laughing at me you might control the team but you can't control me not really understanding what it takes to be a man so i think i'll stay a kid while i can when will you realize this is your life that nothing stays the same
when will you realize this is your life your life is fucking plain