

Atomizer, Power, Not Participation

Power, not participation, the wise rule the strong, the strong rule the weak and so on

Power, not participation, if we rule their thinking, our dominant quest can begin

Subservience or death

Since the very dawning of time, people have needed to be led

Subservience or death

Those that can't do as I will may not live to regret

The smarter we get, the crueller we are, and logic depicts a survival of fittest be law

Those that can't abide this belief, will join us or perish for this will become the new faith

It's more than desire, it's knowledge that will set the world right

For nothing else matters than enforcing the word and the law

By strength and by deed, we'll show them who's really in charge

For a malleable mind is a malleable will to control

Our morals are fading away, at least that's what men of the cloth would wish to convey

An uprising is for what I pray, a death to those fading religions that starts here today
