

Atreyu, Creature

Go, Run Away, In distress, try to hide, from whats creeping and crawling and stabbing within,
try to deny, the turmoil inside, if you fight yourself hard enough you'll never win, any ounce of serenity, or calm hope at best, can leave you heaving on the floor, gasping for breath, are you gasping for breath, to be left on the floor gasping for breath, you're either the person you are or the person you're trying to be, don't let the outside sway too far from where you, who you want to be,

and at any cruel moments notice you can ruin the best, as your body is brutally pressed against the confines of your tense flesh, and if you close your eyes tight enough, none of the bad can get in, and if you close your eyes tight enough, none of the light can get in, the light can't get in, boom, you scream as the light hits you, it radiates through out your whole soul, boom , the pain is clarity, it cleanses, and if it still @#$%& hurts then you still @#$%& know, that you are still alive, that you are still in control, if you would only take hold, boom, the day with both hands, a death grip and a good chance to outlive your past, are you living free.