

Atreyu, Who Died

Who died in the systematic process that we call life each indiscriminate event leading itself to the total destruction the total nihilation of the beauty and spark of mankind's history each failure is so symbolic of what's past and what yet left to be un-dead or am I really dying who's to say that this is eternity devoid of serenity brings us closer to a label of hell here we go are all we all dead what's the stop, where's the end what's the stop, where do I end save me from my sins save us from the demons within with another gone in this war to stay afloat in this turmoil known as daily life breaking human spirit lack of love abundance of disgust who's dead am I dead what is death whose to say that this is life?

Oh God the pain of the response no reaction or are we indifferent well who's will save us or are we already saved well who's to say we need to be saved anyway.
