

Attila, The Invitation

Give in to your temptations, stop worrying about whats wrong or right
Pick up the conversation from the last point that we left off
You always have your way with me
Pick up the conversation from the last point that we left off
You always have your way with my mind, seducing thoughts control me all of the time
All of these thoughts are combining and Im contemplating my next big move
What will you do if these feelings persist? Give in, this urge you cannot resist
All of these thoughts are combining and Im contemplating my next big move
What will you do if these feelings persist? Give in, this urge you cannot resist
Look at me now. Sit in with me as I have a chit-chat with the devil upon my shoulder
Who thought it ever would come to this
Everyones got a secret to tell, so tell me something dirty
Tell me something that Im gonna like
Were losing time- so are you
Dont let useless emotions inflict you in your daily life
Ive got a feeling that theres more where that came from
And Im hoping I can get some more of you
Breathe all youve got into my soul, I want it all or nothing at all
Dont hold back, accept this invitation
I dont need any words or explanation
Me and you possess a love that could break the mold
When were together we can overcome the world
So please accept this invitation
I dont need any words or explanation
Me and you possess a love that could break the mold
When were together we can overcome the world
Bounce
Is anybody even listening?
No