

Augustana, Reasons

started out sweet as heaven told you i could give you all my lovin all the lovin in the world couldnt ease your pain twenty five stuck in motion broken heart like an empty ocean all the money in the world couldnt ease my pain you have your reasons
lord i have mine
don't call me baby
dont even try
you have your freedom
dont call me baby
dont waste your time
would have climbed the highest mountain would have held your deepest passions would have died in your arms with your name on my grave tell myself everyday is better close my eyes and forget the weather you can have your other women but you'll never have me
you have your reasons
don't even try
don't call me baby
don't even try
don't call me baby
