

Aurora, Aurora Borealis

sitting in the fields the blood coloured fields and wonder about the day i was coming back to life i clearly remember the bright shining light coming through the skies gazing through my eyes

i remember how i trembled as i saw your body i remember how divine i felt as i saw your face

sweet child o' mine

suddenly the light
was gone forever gone i heard the birds cry in the sky and teardrops falling to the ground aurora borealis

that moment i knew that something unusually had happened to me i opened my eyes and i realized that i was coming back to life

aurora borealis
a part of me is still in your sky