

Aurora Borealis, Enter The Halls

As I sit here high upon my throne guarded by these seraphs of mine sifting through the battles that take place While choosing few throughout all of time
Many men will die in rage of war time hoping to find their way to me silhouettes of lost souls caught in someone's struggle ever to walk aimlessly

Valhalla, Glorification to thee
Valhalla, Honor to be forever free

Slain in the course of a conflict, will the courage displayed suffice
As he lay there motionless in wonder none to soon he will surely see
This time this place this one shall not go for his story shall end in vein
For this will be his last sunset and his dawn will end in only pain, Pain

Time after time I watch the fallen, All of them hope to hear me calling Enrich their lives only after death calls, soaring into golden halls.
There is one now of noblest blood, prepare the journey to pass into heavens of everything you could ever dream to, come to me and I shall greet you

Starring up at the gates made of pearl,
you have reached your destination
Forever to live in true nirvana in place of damnation

You are now with us, partly of god Immortality you will know forever more
You are now with us, partly of god Immortality you will know forever more

Many men will die in rage of war time hoping to find their way to me silhouettes of lost souls caught in someone's struggle ever to walk aimlessly
As I sit here high upon my throne guarded by these seraphs of mine sifting through the battles that take place While choosing few throughout all of time

Valhalla, Glorification to thee
Valhalla, Honor to be forever free

Starring up at the gates made of pearl,
you have reached your destination
Forever to live in true nirvana in place of damnation