

Automatic Loveletter, For Once

Imagine all the people
Great men would say
They guess imagine it wasn't good enough
For hate for them instead
Now I can try to get my point across to you
But it's gonna take a better voice to listen to
Than a hundred men
And a thousand boys
But all as one here to call
Close your eyes
For once
Think of each other
Reach out
We've been here forever
I'm alive
I've been dreaming on again
Dream with me
She sits alone on an old wooden porch
Her heart cries out and fills with remorse
The breaking news of burning giants
Were at the mercy of invisible tyrants
He takes his steps into the gates of hell
Now in the boundaries of kill or be killed
Shaking now with the horror he's facing
Good men gone mad cuz they train to be crazy
Close your eyes
For once
Think of each other
Reach out
We've been forever
I'm alive
I've been dreaming on again
Dream with me
Before so long
Now all good has come
You lost the battle
And you thought you won
So I'm down on my knees
And this misery
Close your eyes
For once
Think of each other
Reach out
We've been here forever
I've been dreaming on again
Close your eyes
