

Autopassion, A Promise

Don't throw my love away she said
Even if only for a day
I can't stand my ability to tell time

I'm kind looking for a (mumble)
The kind of woman makes me wanna be Another person, no, not one like she is

I know one day that we will fuck again
I don't make promises, I only lie
You're not the only one who's learned from this
I've gained so much knowledge, I can't begin

We took a cab to a little place
We sat around and listened the plans for a while
I never thought I'd see her face again

She took a needle and she took my heart
I found a loving place where I thought I could fall in love again
What a fool I'd been

She said I knew one day that we would go through this
I don't make promises, I only lie
I bet you think that I am proud of this
But no, not at all, no, not at all

So don't throw my love away she said
Even if only for a day
I can't stand my ability to tell time

Don't throw my love away she begged
Don't throw my love away she pled
Don't throw my love away she said
Don't, don't throw my love away
Don't throw my love away
Don't throw my love away
Don't, don't, don't, don't, don't
Don't throw my love away