

Autopassion, Little Bird Says Hush

Little bird says hush
You'll do just what you must
Think if we were wise
Then we would listen

Since the power of words is such
It only sets you free as much
As much as they constrain
But isn't that the game?

And if you wanna know
Simply ask the air
And you'll be told

And if you got a plan
Your edges break
You got nothin' to take

The burden falls on me to Explain what it is you mean
The meaning is divorced
Just like it always was

And if you wanna know
Simply ask the air
And you'll be told

And if you got a plan
Your edges break
You got nothin' to take

Cryin' for difference
All of what there could have been
If only we had listened

Maybe we could
Have avoided
All regret is useless
Get another chance
And know just what to say

Little bird says hush
You'll do just what you must
Yea, little bird says hush
You'll do just what you must
