Autumn Leaves, Autumn Fever

Come spread your dreams through golden years I'll spread my plague of depressive screams Go live your life as I leave mine This autumn fever a lifeless line

By the glowing that burns out the sun We will join our eternity A sign of what's to come Is a sign to leave our depravity

Come lift your wings from the soil of anger

I've lost the one with whom I shared my rings From sadness I will rise But even the strongest can't fly with a broken wing

I've lost my wonder to the ruler of the sky Bloodred tears spilled for an eternity of time What once were can never be And what's to come you cannot see

Come lift your wings from the soil of anger