Avalon, In A Different Light

Don't cry for me No, I've never been one to shoulder the weight of the world 'Cause I believe This is here and it's now, but it's not my home There's a hope beyond what my eyes can see And there's a place that He's preparing for me

CHORUS

Nothing's gonna keep us here We'll go a different way It'll be all right From the other side we'll see it clear On a different day In a different light

Don't be afraid
Of the twists and the turns of the road that we're on, just believe
There'll come a day
When our faith turns to sight, and we'll see His face
While we're here the heartache's hard to ignore
So for now, we'll keep our eyes on the Lord

CHORUS

Though for now, we see things dimly There's a voice that speaks within me Leading me to a different light In a different way (in a different way) In a different light

CHORUS 4X
