

Avantasia, The Raven Child

Wild groves, sacred grounds fade to vastness
Mother moon, cast your spell on these fields
Let the boughs paint ghostly shades on the trail to a different world

Where the castle looks out to the valley
Where I'm given all the love that I crave
Not afraid of the rising sun laying bare my brittle soul

Cold is the wind
Bringing forth the clarity
Time rushing on
And nothing will remain
There's no glory on the last journey
Home...

Looking down from this pure cope of heaven
Onto an ocean of white that drowns
All the noise and decree
And the craze in empty eyes

Wide-eyed I'm lost in my imagination:
A dream of love
I've got to suffocate while I keep on waiting
For the hour I'll be called to realize
And see it all before my eyes

The sky is crawling down the mound
Into the deadwood on the ground
They say

Spectres flare and spit and rise
To mingle with the skies
And take all that's never meant to be

A fire in the dark for the fool's gonna find his way
Gonna run and never get away
Is it love that glows in fiery alignment?
Starry-eyed, maybe living a lie ?
A lonely heart in an endless line

Oh, raven child, raven child

Bewildering and strange,
The scent of spring and cherry blossoms
Sweet scent of rain, they're calling you
Astounding how it is not the same it used to be
When you're compelled behind the crenel on your own

The tolling of the bell,
Is there anyone to tell me what they want to say
Voices go on and on and on to me
But their tongues won't permeate
Throughout my soul

In your altered state of mind
In vain you're chasing light
Your master in his frown
Denial of the crown of creation
You're made to think you are

A fire in the dark for the fool's gonna find his way
Gonna run and never get away
Is it love that glows in fiery alignment?
A fire in the dark for the fool's gonna find his way

Gonna run and never get away
Is it love that glows in fiery alignment?
Starry-eyed, maybe living a lie ?
A lonely heart in and endless line

Light breeze in the crowns of the willows
Green fields as if the day was on the wane
Grow faith and attain to perfection
What a backdrop for a diamond

And so we sway in the wind like the willow
Meant to give way to the order of the storm
Won't leave a mould in the marsh of the ages
A tired chevalier of fortune

Blue and serene once a sky swanned on magic
The unborn in the stream of destiny
Time flows to become a mound of nothing
For a broken soldier of fortune
Oh my...

(Comin' down, goin' all the way now)
(You won't get away you know)
(Finally the way you're shown, you're goin' down)

Into the light

In the light, there's a crack torn open
From underneath the day
In the light, but a crack, is it growing?
Feel the dark rolling in, your way
Feel the light, look away, it's gonna blind you
Ignite you spirits fly
See a light to uncloak their master
To arouse the beaten mind

In the light, there's a crack torn open
From underneath the day(You dream and fly)
In the light, but a crack, is it growing?
Feel the dark rolling in, your way(Hey raven child)
Feel the light, look away, it's gonna blind you
Ignite you spirits fly
Uncloak the raven master
To arouse the beaten mind

You tuck away your self inside
You ride away on the inmost light
Your soul glowing opal-blue
A million voices fade away
I never really got what they're trying to say
For my words, there's no getting through

Oh, you sail to the night's plutonian shore
You drift to sleep
You can't take no more of this
And like a raven child
You spread your paltry wings and throw
Yourself into the wind to escape
From all below that despised
The raven child

Am I awake or is it an evil dream?
Or maybe the ugly in between
Like me... a weak hemaphrodite
A broken soul in unimpaired parts

In quest for light but it was the dark
That embraced the raven child

A cloak of invisibility
To curtain the face of deformity, no...
Darkness let me in
Off to the night's plutonian shores
You dream and hope you won't wake no more to this!
Flying raven child!
Flying raven child!

Oh fiery eyes!
Oh fiery eyes!

To escape from all below
Spread your wings and go
Like a raven child