

Avril Lavigne, Eternity

Rains of sense slip through your hands never sleesing thight fault your hands in silent prayer eternal peace you'll find like two river flow to the open sea
some day we'll realize we're all eternity let the rain falling on your face run into your eyes can you see the rainbow now through the stormy skys
like two river flow to the open sea
like two river flow to the open sea
standing in the rizing tight heavens light shines on you, on you, on you then the sea rizing up your feets how far can you go till you meet gods helping hand to ride the under to like two river flow to the open sea
