

Avril Lavigne, One In A Million

on that first day of kindergartion you held my hand as we walked through those scarry halls and played in the sand. i still remember the day when u said "hi whats your name?"
three more days and you'll be gone (still not sure whats going on) you told me you were moving 5 weeks ago today (thats exactly what ive thought about every single day)
once upon a time
there was me and u
now im sitting back
remembering the
times i spent with u
good and bad
what we had
was one in a million 13 years of memories
i cant believe this is the end our years of friendship is coming to an end dont forget to send me pictures of your new friends three more hours and you'll be gone (im still not sure whats going on) the vans packed up and your moving away (this momments what ive thought about every single day)
once upon a time
there was me and u
now im sitting back
remembering the
times i spent with u
good and bad
what we had
was one in a million
why is my luck changing my best friends leaving and my life is rearranging its been three days since youve been gone (so im forced to sit alone writing this song)
once upon a time
there was me and u
now im sitting back
remembering the
times i spent with u
good and bad
what we had
was one in a million