

Away From It All, Enny Brothers Vs Leatherface

I know you like the back of my hand took you to the dance floor not once did I step on your toes you spun so fast you lost your breath you never knew how to sport the heels watching you through counterfeit crystal damn that look is scandalous we took the back roads home I love what you've done with the place it's so retro dim the lights make it worth the cheap wine i bought girl you've always been a knockout but tonight you remind me of London the steel tracks run straight through the sunset and I know you're on the first train out of here watch me cause a diversion someone call the constable that dame stole my heart