

Axenstar, Northern Sky

I walk in the moonlight far away from the cities roaring sounds
A walk in silence underneath the starlit sky
The glorious landscape that opens up right before my eyes
The hills and the valleys there's nothing more beautiful

Here the wind of freedom calls
Please take me there

The north wind is blowing all the way everywhere I go
Through the season of my life, on this my last journey
The daylight is fading in my dreams the angels call my name
They lead me to my own land, don't let this dream ever end

Oh northern sky
Guide me on my way home
Oh northern sky
You are my haven

The rain and thunder came crashing down from heaven
Storm winds are blowing like hurricanes of madness
Earthquakes are shaking the core of the planet
Volcanoes erupting and fire spreads across the sky