

Axwell, Something New

I see the dawn of a new beginning
This time, this time we can't go home
I hear of tomorrow calling
I go, I go where you go
'Cause we belong to something
We belong to something new

In the mist of the midnight hour
You said to me
We are, we are of a different kind
Like we've been kissed by higher power
Saying don't wait, don't wait until it's gone
'Cause we belong to something
We belong to something
We belong to something new

We belong to something new

We are the ones that will be remembered
Singing
This time, this time we can't go home
Like we've been kissed by higher power
Saying don't wait, don't wait until it's gone

I tell you if you need to know
Here is where my heart belongs
Silver threads among the gold
Kisses over Babylon
This is more than a heart can bare
Mercy on me
We belong to something
We belong to something
We belong to something new

We belong to something new
We belong to something new
To something new
To something new
We belong to something new