Backstreet Boys, Loving You

LOVING YOU

I love how loving you makes me feel and I love how loving you feels so real through the good through the bad
when I'm happy or sad
I'd rather be loving you than anything else in the world
Ohoooh Loving you than anything else

All my life I've dreamed of a princess all dressed in white Standing there to be my bride and then there's you A sending from Heaven right before my eyes Letting me know that there is a God somewhere I know
Many people think they find love in the world
But this kind of love isn't found it finds you it takes you

I love how loving you makes me feel oh yeah and I love how loving you feels so real so real baby
through the good through the bad
when I'm happy or sad
I'd rather be loving you than anything else in the world
Ohoooh I'd rather be loving you than anything else in the world (in the world)

All my life I've wondered if I'd hear all the bells and whistles
If the one should come my way Then there is you like the wind makes the earth shake Making me a believer there must be a God somewhere I know
Many people think they find love in the world
But this kind of love isn't found it finds you it takes you

This kind of love doesn't come from just a touch nor does it come from anything you can't pay for Its so pure if we just send love on in the world

Cus I love how loving you makes me feel oh yeah and I love how loving you feels so real so real so real through the good through the bad the bad
when I'm happy or sad
I'd rather be loving you than anything else in the world
Ohoooh I'd rather be loving you than anything else in the world (in the world)

I love how loving you makes me feel
and I love how loving you feels so real
through the good through the bad
when I'm happy or sad
I'd rather be loving you than anything else in the world
Ohoooh I'd rather be loving you than anything else in the world
I'd rather be loving you than anything else in the world
I'd rather be loving you than anything else in the world
