Its Over Now

Id like to remember you the way you look this very moment

But now were past it and im memorizing that you were in it

Someone has to make the move to say good-bye so say good-bye

Its over now, its over now, its over now ...

Your eyes are still off-center on your face, its strange to mention

Its been a year or so since ive been aware of your imperfections

I cant imagine loving someone else but i will work it out

Its over now, its over now, its over now ...

Well make the same mistakes again weve got our methods down

Its over now, its over now, its over now ...

When i was seventeen i felt emotions unknown to mankind

The love i had, the pain i felt began when it was mine

Now as the end approaches i roll my eyes no, not again.

Its over now, its over now, its over now ...

And if you change your mind just call me

And if you change your mind ill be here

Youve got about a week or so until forever disappears ...

Id like to remember you the way you looked the day we met

But as youre walking out the door im starting to forget

Ill always love you until someone else gets my attention

Its over now, its over now, its over now ...

Well make the same mistakes again weve got our methods down

Its over now, its over now, its over now ...
