

Bad Religion, Portrait of Authority

Nothing more, nothing less
An icon on the wall decoration and duress
That which many strive to be
It's the marble statue standing over me
And nobody has the will to tear it down
It determines wrong and right
But to me its just a stereotype
And it makes us lose our sight
The portait of authority
(Portait of authority)
You tell me that's what I'm supposed to be (Portait of authority)
You tell me what I'm supposed to be Another time another man
And oppressive intrusion and a plague across his land
And it haunts him every day
It tells him he has no chance his hopes just fade away
And he lives his life pretend to tear it down
But he can't muster the support
And to him it's just a stereotype
Of his life long fight
The portait of authority
(Portait of authority)
It embodies what he cannot be (Portait of authority)
he cannot be
You're portait of authority
(Portait of authority)
