

Bal-Sagoth, The Epsilon Exordium

"From the journal of Professor Caleb Blackthorne III, discovered May 1899, near the great Temple

"23 September: 1893"

Upon extensive examination of the nefarious arcane codex known as The Epsilon Exordium, I believe
At any rate, I have my trusted Martini-Henry .45 calibre breech-loader should these silent stalkers p
I have at last translated the carvings on the stone fragment I unearthed amidst the ruins of Angkor

"2 October: 1893"

Yes, it is as I suspected. I have long felt that the Sumerians of Mesopotamia were among the first p
It seems however, that the closer I come to enlightenment, the greater the danger becomes. Last n
By the time I had brought my rifle to bear, they had melted away into the fathomless shadows of th