

Bandcamp, OVER AND DONE

Bandcamp
Miscellaneous
OVER AND DONE

well it's over and done even though you're the one i'll close both my eyes and see love's just another disguise i told you that i never want to see your face well i didn't really mean it it seems like i've always been in second place well i thought you might've seen it yes, this is hard for me to face the facts and realize you only see the thoughts in me so just walk away when i say.. that we're over and done even though you're the one i'll pretend that you're not though i'll miss you a lot we're over and done even though you're the one i'll close both my eyes and see love's just another disguise

looking at some pictures, staring into your eyes i have to look away a smile that can only be true to a lie there's no truth in what you say yes this is hard for me, to take the bad in with the good but you only take the best of me left me with nothing to keep so we're over and done even though you're the one i'll pretend that you're not

though i'll miss you a lot
we're over and done even though you're the one
i'll close both my eyes and see love's just another disguise

i remember the time when you said that you're mine here it'll start until death do us part it seems things have changed, now our lives rearranged take this last kiss, the sweet taste i will miss when you're holding me tight everything seemed alright there were no second thoughts just as if we were taught to put trust in ourselves, and believe in ourselves trust ourselves, believe ourselves!

well were over and done even though you're the one
i'll pretend that you're not
though i'll miss you a lot
we're over and done even though you're the one
i'll close both my eyes and see love's just another disguise love's just another disguise