

Bandits, Shadows

Moon in shadows, hiding faces in a blue-eyed dead-end-night
Broken dreams and colded heart-beats standing tender by my side
Light is fading into darkness, time to kiss your soul good night
Waiting for the everlasting, god-allmighty golden light
Where the sun burns, I will be there, once upon in former time
All the laughter, all this fighting, seem to be a part of mine

People

Oh you people

You people here I am

Take me, keep me, claim me now

Punish me - I smile somehow

Yeah, I stay, I'll never look back

I know how it feels, when red turns to black

Stars and stripes behind the window, colourful against the sky
Streetcars passing towards nowhere, watching me to say good-bye
Where the sun burns, I will be there, once upon in former time
All the laughter, all this fighting, seem to be a part of mine

I am over, high above

I'm falling like I felt in love

I am high, far in the air

Yeah, I know who will be there