

Barbies Cradle, Belinda Bye Bye

Bake a cake to my taste you dance away Belinda
Disappear in the light smile like that Belinda
But i will not follow you tonight i will go home
You are tremors in my heart you are my Belinda
You will be my sinful secret
I cant tell my kids about you
Though i could never lie
And i hope someday youd ask
You know i'd like to stay here and chat for a while
But its bad for my future plans of being a loyal wife
So bye bye Belinda bye bye Belinda bye bye
If you think this song is about you
You're so vain Belinda
But if you catch my stupid eye youd know youre right
But i will not look again this time i will hide my heart
The spirits in my room they whisper
You know the sky is now in bloom
But i'll sacrifice Belinda
I have to let you go cause i think it might be lust
You know i'd like to stay and do magic with you
But that would be unkind to my little boy blue
Little boy blue lost his shoe
One day paddling in the water
He cried and he cried and he realized
That its more fun to run without shoes
