

Barry Manilow, Big City Blues (Duet With Mel Torme)

Much of my life has been spiced with romance
Too many bedrooms I've slept in by chance
Drownin' out my sorrow
Longin' for tomorrow
Caught up in the big city blues
Rain pourin' down from a cold winter sky
Don't wanna smile and I'm too sad to cry
Clouds hangin' above me
No one there to love me
Guess it's just the big city blues
Someday I'll find me the dream that I'm after
I'll know her with only a glance
She'll make me smile
And she'll fill me with laughter
And our love will be like a dance
Skies will be clear and the sweet sun will shine
I'll hold her near and I'll know that she's mine
No more stormy weather
Love will last forever
Good-bye to the big city blues