

Barry Manilow, Where Does The Time Go?

Oh what a time
What a warm an wonderful time
So sweet a shinning moment in the sun
Oh what a time
Was there ever such a time
Then suddenly it's done
The moment passes

Where, where does the time go
Must we let it end
Where,where does the time go
Gone to soon my friend
And where, where go the echo's
Of our laughte ringing the air

Oh where ever the time goes
I will see you there
Must we let it end
And where,where go the echo's
Of our laughther ringing the air
Oh where ever the time goes
I will see you there
I will see you there
