

Bay City Rollers, Another Rainy Day In The New

Listen to the radio

A voice on the early show says I'm not alone

It's just another rainy day in New York City

And the rain comes pouring down

Like early morning strangers we had nothing left to say but

"See you round".

And I think of the night when it all felt so right

How was I supposed to know?

Now your feeling's gone 'cos when I call on the phone

You told the operator say "Sorry, no-one's home"

It's another rainy day in New York City

At night those city lights they sure look pretty

I held my candle to the wind and watched my dreams just sail away

With another rainy day in New York City

To think that only yesterday

Life was such an easy game that I could play

Now it's another rainy day in New York City

And the rain comes pouring down

So I'm on my own and the radio says

That the sun ain't gonna shine

With the words you said spinnin' round in my head

You know I can't find a way to get you out of my mind.

It's another rainy day in New York City

At night those city lights they sure look pretty

I held my candle to the wind and watched my dreams just sail away

With another rainy day in New York City

It's another rainy day in New York City

At night those city lights they sure look pretty
