Baby Please Go

You've heard it said a thousand times
But only heard his Broadway lines
So baby please go, ain't, ain't part of the show
Cause when your Romeo needs no cue or prompt
The likelier your little heart be stomped by
Baby don't go written, wrtten into his show

Cause in the West End show your life played understudy to every part
Got given all the dullest lines whilst the chorus girls danced on your heart
Baby please go (baby please go)
Baby please go (baby please go)
Baby please go (baby please go)

The sorry tale we'd all applaud
That only dripped and never poured
But baby just go, let him, let him on with his show
The leading snail leaves tell-tale lines
The bullshit tower the loudest chimes
But baby please go, ain't, aint part of the show

Cause in the West End show your life played understudy to every part
Got given all the dullest lines whilst the chorus girls danced on your heart
Baby please go (baby please go)
Baby please go (baby please go)
Baby please go (baby please go)

Romantic love lines that we adored (baby forget them)
They were read by men from idiot board (baby forget them)
So a message from the wisest guy to broad
Is best like flattery ignored
Baby just let him go, let him on with the show
Baby just let him go, let him on with the show
