

Beborn Beton, Game Of Fools

I feel you, I see you
Your eyes in tears but that's a lie
You told me not to give a damn
There's something you want
Like being washed away and sometime
You feel like never felt before

Now you are standing there
And something's telling me
That you prefer some extraordinary fun
You came to me out of the web
And now it's me who's spinning
Guess it was you who made the rules

You like to play the game of fools
Maybe
I'd rather fall apart
Cause someone broke the rules
And that was you

You're lying there but you don't move
There is no use in running
The time is up to face the truth
How does it feel I give you pain
Around your eyes a shade of blue
That's what you have been waiting for

I'll make you go down on your knees
The party's just beginning
I'll lead you to a better world
Don't tell me that you didn't know
Cause it was you who showed me how
So be prepared a last good bye

You're tied and death confronted
That's what you always wanted
