

Beccy Cole, This Heart

Here I am standing in the mirror
I see a woman I can barely recognise
Suddenly it's becoming clearer
I'm waking to a feeling I just can't deny
I've made the same mistakes
I give my heart away and I don't get it back till after it breaks

CHORUS: These lips weren't meant to tremble
These eyes weren't made to cry
These ears weren't meant to listen to someone else's lies
These arms were made for holding someone who cares enough
To know now and forever...This heart was made for love

Not gonna hide beneath the covers
About time to rise above and reach for something more
Instead of looking for a lover
I am going to be someone somebody's looking for

I shed these broken wings
I'll fly without those things
Don't have to stand for less than living my dream

CHORUS
